City of Westminster

What is City Lions?

City Lions gives 13-16 year olds exclusive access to cultural experiences to help develop their skills, confidence and creative potential.

With an introductory meeting or call, the City Lions team will work in collaboration with you to curate sessions with Westminster's iconic institutions based on your desired learning outcomes.

This will then guide pupils as they discover their own creative potential, talent and interests so that they can define what cultural capital means to them.

"Cultural capital is the essential knowledge that pupils need to be educated citizens, introducing them to the best that has been thought and said and helping to engender an appreciation of human creativity and achievement."

What's available for schools in 2019/2020?

This year's programme (featured inside this leaflet) has been designed to help schools meet certain requirements outlined by Ofsted.

- Quality of education: the programme complements a broad and varied curriculum, specifically offering options that simulate work place scenarios
- Cultural capital: with a mixed view about what this means for pupils, City Lions is designed to aid pupils in the discovery, definition and consolidation of their own cultural capital and what it means to them
- Personal development: it helps build young people's resilience and confidence, helping them to discover or consolidate their participation in creative-based extra-curricular activities
- Leadership: pupils will walk away with a written record of how the programme has helped have a positive impact on their own learning, which can be used as evidence during Ofsted inspections

What do our Lions have to say?

I think I have learnt a lot during my time with City Lions. I've been pushed out of my comfort zone and that has really helped me learn and grow as a person

Making mistakes and experimenting with new ideas are a part of creativity

Creativity is not just about art or design and is needed for a lot of different jobs

How does the programme work?

Signing up to a City Lions programme is free for schools. Sessions can be split between classroom-based activities and an offsite workshop where pupils meet professional creatives in their place of work and participate in work-based problem-solving scenarios.

Each session can vary in duration, location and content depending on the required learning outcomes for teachers and the needs of the pupils.

Sessions are designed to:

- Improve pupils' communication and teamwork skills
- Help pupils discover ways to use their creativity to increase their sense of wellbeing
- Empower pupils to feel more informed and confident about visiting cultural places in Westminster
- Increase their knowledge about creative careers in Westminster

"I got in contact with the City Lions team and was immediately impressed by their personalised approach. The team really understood our kids, and worked around us.

I explained that I wanted the session to fit in with what students were already learning, offering real-time learning outcomes. Our pupils took part in the Society of London Theatre's backstage careers event.

It was a really great opportunity for students as they had no idea about the roles that existed backstage."

Tim Smith, year 7-11 teacher,
St Marylebone Bridge School

What our partners say:

“City Lions is an exciting venture that signals a step change for young people, giving them the experiences and tools needed to make the most of the cultural riches in their city.

It has been a privilege to contribute to this agenda by sharing the unique environment of Somerset House with young people from Westminster.”

Catherine Ritman-Smith,
Head of Skills and Engagement at Somerset House
