

Why should we be treated differently?

Can I not walk with my head held high?

Do I have to hide when someone who doesn't agree with my race walks by?

What if my skin is black and I am falsely accused?

Will you let me sit there and just be abused?

I want to live every moment with happiness in my life.

But when someone who doesn't like my skin comes by,

Will I have to live with strife?

I shouldn't die because of the colour of my skin.

Will my heartbreak stop, will my heartbeat dim?
